AREAS OF SPECIALTY

Leadership Development & Executive Coaching

For over a decade, Silvia has trained and coached both top executives and high-potentials at international corporations of various industries, such as automotive, banking, media, retail and health care. With a background in psychotherapy and extensive experience in 1-on-1 coachings, she aims to leverage the full potential of her coachees. Silvia combines various state-of-the-art coaching techniques and related methods. With various certifications in the area of training and coaching, Silvia has for years been a successful trainer and coach at large electronics retailer Media Markt.

In dealing with her own stressful life of an executive coach on the road, Silvia began studying and coaching relaxation techniques to business executives. Now that she has accumulated years of experience on the matter, she recently published a CD on relaxation.

Communication

Silvia has used her extensive acting and TV hosting experience to specialize in the area of leadership communication. This includes intensive presentation training, speaker training, as well as training on handling the media and the facilitation of discussions in the media.
